5 RESOLVING GRIEVANCES

Students or potential students are encouraged, wherever possible, to resolve grievances directly with the person(s) concerned. For example: if the issue concerns an academic matter, the complainant should talk directly with their trainer. Similarly, any issues relating to fees should be discussed first with accounts.

If the student has attempted to resolve the issue directly, but is not satisfied with the outcome or does not wish to approach the person(s) concerned directly, he/she may discuss the issue with a Student Support Officer first or directly with the CEO. The student may be accompanied by a support person during this process. (10.2.1, 10.2.4)

CEO will consider the issue and may either suggest a course of action to resolve the issue, or attempt to mediate between the student and the staff member(s) concerned.

If the matter is not resolved informally the grievance may be put to a complaint, whereby the student can complete a Complaint Form.

5.1 COMPLAINTS

To commence the formal process, the complainant must complete a Complaint Form (available from Student Services). The following information needs to be provided in writing:
